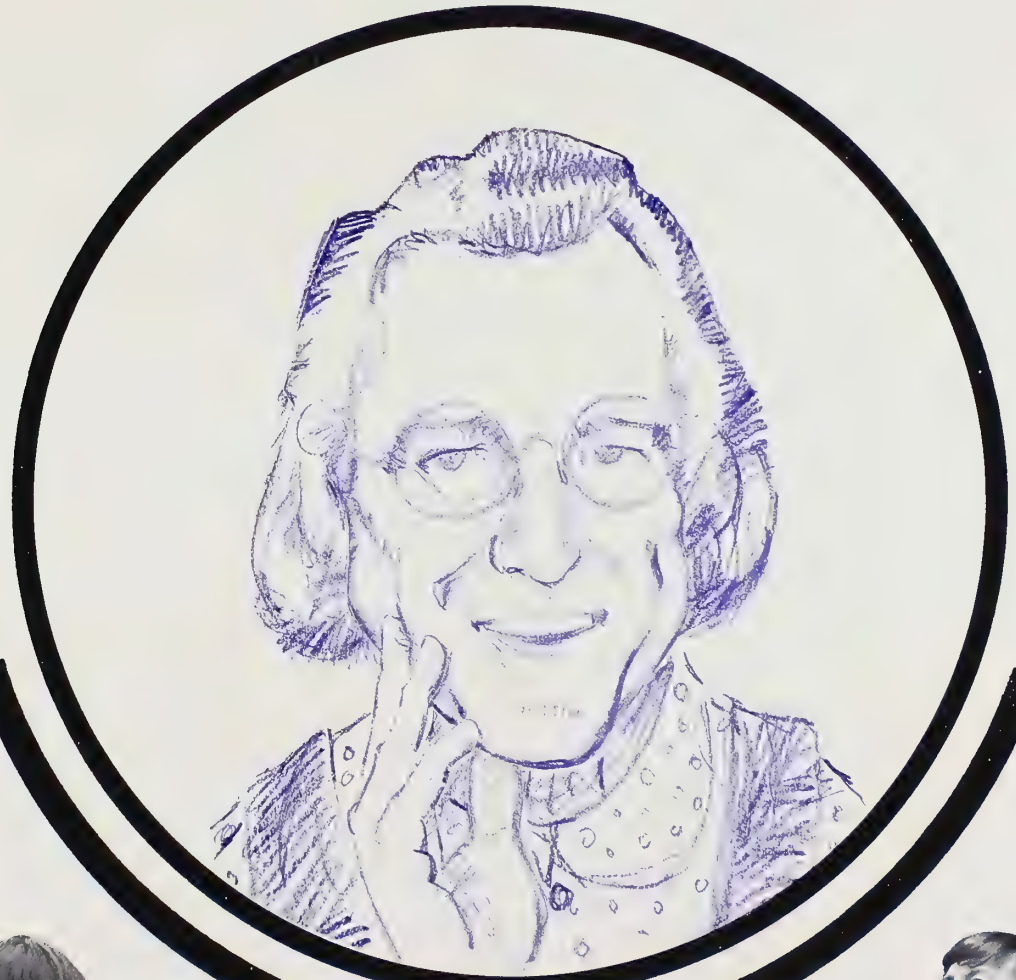
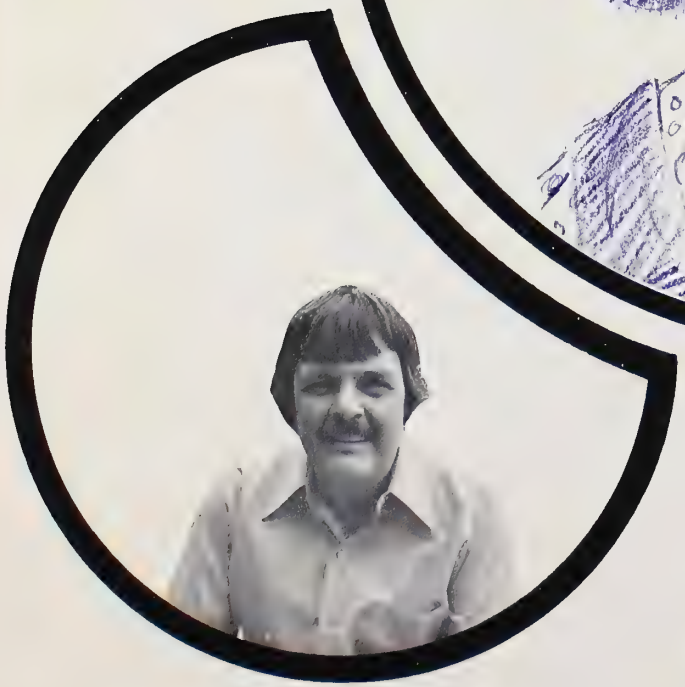
MOTHER LIKES IT!





THE REAL THINGS

Direct from the Ogunquit Home for the Bewildered, RFD Records proudly present The Real Things! Many have asked...(actually only Mother here at the Home has queried) as to the Real Things origination. Trusting in America's capacity of Freedom of Speech and Censorship, we bare our early beginnings with the pride and passion depicted by Wesley Lipshitz Gunn, our founder, filmmaker, and filanthropist in his new book,"How the Real Things Got Together".

In 1968, Organist Ray telephoned Drummer Dave and that same night they played a private club engagement. They paid the management enough money so they were asked to return again and again. But, like old soldiers, all good things fade away.

"We need to find another gig! Where's Mr. Gunn?" came the question.

"O, Gunn quit," was the reply.

"Moody fellow wasn't he!"

"Nope, think he was from Wells!"

By then things were looking up. Grange halls, junkstore openings, bars, country clubs, Job Corps centers, museums and the Odd Fellows hall (where we felt right at home), all the while toting organ and drums hither and yon, up and down, through rain, hernias and the dark of night.

C'mon, play the record like we're doing right now. Look, here comes Mother through the screen door. She didn't even bother to open it! She never does.

See her dance, see her shimmy like her sister Kate!

The song is over.

"What do ya think of the music?" we ask.

She roars out between her frequent asthma attacks,

STUCK
Stuck with a lonely heart in a solitary place
Feeling like things you did weren't very smart.
Nothing that you can do
It's a circle that never ends.
Like a river that has it's bends
There are many
that you've been through.
Stuck in the grasp of sin.
Like the tar that's on my hands.
Feeling so dirty now
From this sorry mess I'm in.
Pages that won't erase;
Hurts that cannot go away.
Tears stream on my face
Looking for that brighter day.
Chorus:
Jesus had power on high
to turn my death into life.
He made my lame legs dance;
He made me cease from strife
Didn't He make me clean;
Didn't He make me
glad all over to be alive.
Be alive to love you. Be alive;
Be alive to hold you near
and help you walk anew.
Won't you learn to lean on me?
We can be alive. Be alive to love.
Be alive.
Stuck, but there's hope for you;
There's a way out to see
Having love become your aim;
Love with deep sincerity.
It takes a courage rare;
Maybe you can't face the wind.
Then when you fall alone
You will probably fall again.
Chorus

CAN YOU PUT IT IN YOUR HEART
You spend your best days fighting to make some grades.
Keeping in touch with good friends,
a routine that never fades.
And all this time you wonder,
down on yourself
Bucking under the pressure that this world's laying down on you.
So you're under the pile . . . finding it hard to smile.
Chorus:
Can you put it? Can you put it?
Can you put it in your heart?
Can you put it?
Can you put it in your heart?
To love what God has made?
To love what God has made?
What God has made.
What God has made?
Got to love what God has made!
It seems like a bad dream,
but the dreamer never wakes
You want to stand up and scream.
Your body starts to shake.
You want someone to come and change the way you talk;
The way you look and even the way that you walk.
Thinking there's a mistake.
That life is really nothing but a fake.
Chorus
It's a cat's game. You can't win.
Every day's the same.
Ends as it begins.
Gotta break out.
Gotta change the beat.
Find a purpose.
Find a joy you can't defeat.
Chorus

STUFF THAT BAD DREAMS ARE MADE OF
The time of your life.
And you must decide.
It's a question of knowing
just where to draw the line.
You are what you do.
And there is something
That hasn't occurred to you.
The seed that you sow will stick your lifetime through.
Standing on the edge;
waiting to fly through the air.
Take a look there's no second chance These replays will always be there
Chorus:
This is the stuff that bad dreams are made of.
Memories that you'll wear
again and again and again.
You better think twice or you'll spend many a night Wondering and wishing about what might have been.
The friends you must face to give an account of your night.
To answer just where you were
when they turned out the light.
It's sad but it's true. Your Friday night
fling's gonna bury you.
In a layer of guilt from doing what isn't right.
Take a hold of your future now.
Take a hold of a better way.
If someone's headed for the shadows;
We got to take them aside and say:
Chorus

HOSANNA
Hosanna Hosanna.
Praise to the Lord on high.
Hosanna Joy of my laughter,
Joy of the tears I cry.
My Master My Master for an eternity.
I lift my hands up. I lift my heart up.
Praise Him! With my heart
I will praise Him!
Serve Him all the days of my life!
Be His to own. Be His to grow and use

WHAT HAVE YOU DONE MY SON
What have you done my son
in the heat of the night?
Did you think that it would be forgotten?
With innocence lost
before the morning light
A sweet fruit has now become rotten
Did you think that once you had quenched your thirst
You would never be thirsty again?
You knew about the best
but now the worst
Has come to make you captive within.
Chorus
What have you done my son?
Tell me now, where can you run?
A year from now
the memory lingers on.
What have you done? You left nothing but a scar on her heart
Nothing but a haunting ghost within.
A haunting ghost within You're a cedar chest full of curiosity
And new questions jump out every day
But you'll burn your hand when you stick it in the fire
You will ruin your present when you take your future away
Chorus

WAKE UP TO A DIFFERENT DREAM
Chorus:
Wake up to a different dream.
Wake up, He is coming.
Wake up for the Lord is near.
Wake up: Forgive a brother.
Wake up: And love each other.
Wake up: And do what's right.
Wake up: Walk in the light.
Chorus
Wake up: And show some kindness.
Wake up: And pray for peace.
Wake up: Don't let a day go by.
Wake up: Give his will a try.
Chorus

POWER MOVE
Deep in your heart
you want to own her.
Deep in your heart
you long to tell her what to do
A robot just for you
Hurts to think that setting her free
Is the best thing you could do.
Deep in your heart, you got a hunger.
You think it's smart
to try to get her for yourself.
Don't leave her on the shelf.
The sad part though is that you will call it love.
You will call it love.
Chorus
Is it nothing more than a power move?
Is it nothing more than what passion
has to prove?
You need God to move
Deep in your heart. In your heart
Deep in your heart
you may really want to love her.
So for a start,
there are things you ought to do
Like do what God tells you to
She will notice, too
There's a different kind of love.
From what you do, deep in your heart

I'D BE FREE
Sitting by the phone.
Watching one more rerun
And I notice that my socks don't match.
I tried to call you.
They said you were out with a friend.
Goodness, girl, you are so hard to catch
I guess I'll see you in the morning
When the sunrise burns away
Those lingering longings of mine.
I'm fine. But I've known all the time.
Chorus:
I'd be free. If I had never met you.
If I had tried to live all by myself.
Free from so much.
From the memory of your touch.
I'd be free. But now look at me.
I'd be free.
With a Master so much kinder.
But the passion of your eyes has chained my soul.
So when you're far away, there can be no brighter day.
But without you, I'd be free
Walking down the hall,
someone looks like you.
And I think about you all afternoon.
The teacher's talking,
but the words just pass by.
You are messing up my mind;
I might as well be on the moon.
It won't be different in the morning.
Those lingering longings of mine.
I'm fine. But I've known all the time
Chorus

IF GOD WAS NOT AROUND
All alone in my room;
passing time with an open book.
Before the test I'll take one last look;
And then I'll close my eyes.
What a day, what a blast we had.
Even history was not too bad.
Met a girl who made my heart glad;
that was a neat surprise.
Chorus:
If God was not around. I doubt if I would be much different.
I doubt if I would get too shaken up.
I doubt if somebody would wake me up to the fact that God was not around All alone in my day. Moving from friend to friend to friend. The bell rings,
the day comes to an end.
Then I leave that old school again.
Well I've been thinking
where to go from here
Where to go when I lose these halls.
Look for new space,
for brand new walls.
Different than where I've been.
Chorus
That God had skipped town.
I'd be forced to spend my days
Thinking how and why life
evolved this way.
Wondering how things
could be so beautiful
If God was not around.
Why should I go on living
if God is not around?
Chorus

STAY PURE
Rap.
Stay pure, American Teen.
Yes, that's just exactly what I mean.
So American Teen . . . Stay pure.
Through these years you can endure.
It's a journey through what seems to be an endless maze.
So you hurry though you can't see clearly through the haze.
Don't make your choice
when the time is too late.
Make it now.
Don't let what feels good decide your fate.
Save it for the right time.
A marriage is the right time.
Take a stand now, before your life becomes bad memories.
Grab a hand now, help a friend survive
some stormy seas.
No one said that it's easy
just acting your age.
But the rest of your book will be different Depending on how you live this page.
Rap
You cannot go back in time to erase those things that hurt you.
All the charm that could melt
you away will desert you
No matter what he says;
no matter what she says.

Mac Parker

The Givin' War

60 Minute Cassette

SIDE ONE

Father and Son: Much is said about Vermont farmers being "sensible people of few words." What isn't often said is that "few words" sometimes means that we can't think of what the hell to say—especially to each other.

Fall Foliage: It happens every year, and every Vermonter knows it's the dictionary definition of "mixed blessing." It brings color, tourists, and money, and the reminder that "quaint" ain't all it's cracked up to be.

Right of Way: Everybody winces when they hit an animal with their car, but we don't always think too much about it. Here's a look from beside the road.

The Government Program: Under the "Whole Herd Buyout" program, the federal government paid certain dairy farmers to either slaughter or export their cows, in an attempt to reduce the "milk surplus." Many Vermont farms took part, and for some it was the end of generations of family farming.

The Givin' War: Here in Vermont, we don't do our feudin' with shotguns. We blast away at each other with neighborliness, good deeds, freshly baked pies and raspberry jam. But make no mistake; it's all still a life or death struggle. Just ask my brother, Alan—he survived one.

SIDE TWO

Love Poem: Romancin' in farm country can sometimes be a lean proposition, as anyone who's ever been single out here can tell you. But when it works out, the winters don't feels so cold, and the back roads don't seem quite so dusty.

The Interstate: Somebody once asked me if this was a true story. Well, it's true that Interstate 91 did snake its way up through Vermont, laying its way over the top of whatever was in the way. And I did once know a farmer named Leigh....

Turds: I like performing this and seeing how long it takes people to look me in the eye. Young people seem to like it a lot, and I like to think that's because they have a well-developed sense of irreverence.

Springtime: There's a kind of quiet passion we Vermonters have for our home and our land, but we get a little shy and clumsy sometimes about expressing it. Well, clumsy or not, here's my best shot.

Beggars' Banquet Records drew it's first breath in London in 1977. It all began with The Lurkers' Shadow, a single made in the true do-it-yourself spirit of punk. During the 80's, the label grew to feature such ground breaking artists as Bauhaus, The Cult, Gary Numan and the Go-Betweens. The roster has continued to expand to include The Charlantans U.K., Buffalo Tom and Peter Murphy, maintaining the creativity and adventurousness of one of the last of the true independents.

Bullish Rage

bulls are confident in a 4 foot tie
stifling an urge to sing La Bamba
puzzling over a complex pudding
on a green sheet paperweight lost
losing myself in a thought
crumpled up paper forest

music—Joe Wolff

Elvis

Everybody wants to be Elvis
Everybody wants to take prescription drugs
Everybody wants Priscilla's dress
Everybody wants to give away Cadillacs
Everybody wants to be fat in Las Vegas
Everybody wants to eat peanut butter
and banana sandwiches
Everybody wants to sing Blue Hawaii
Everybody wants mutton chop sideburns

Chorus
Everybody on the old street block was dancing to the jailhouse rock throw me a hip
twist me a tune
stand aside there's gyration
in the room

Everybody wants to be Elvis
Everybody wants to take prescription drugs

begone yellow snow
for pink you will become said the stump misunderstood for a thousand years

again standing alone
a little man sits
with straw sown lips
thinking, mumbling, saying, shouting over and over again
my injustice will die

Side 2

Hummingbird

humming bird humming
a black angel spits
hitting a two headed coin
of a manhole cover
hopping coin of silver steel bounding on asphalt lawns
spilling itself over onto the plush carpeted streets

Blow back
Blow back
humming bird
in mind, in time, in rhyme

Everybody wants to be Elvis
Everybody wants to take prescription drugs
Everybody wants to be fat in Las Vegas
Everybody says don't be cruel
Everybody wants to drive pink Cadillacs
Everybody wants velvet artwork
Everybody needs jet black hair

Chorus

Everybody wants to be Elvis
Everybody wants to take prescription drugs
Everybody wants Priscilla's dress
Everybody says don't be cruel
Everybody wants to drive pink Cadillacs
Everybody needs jet black hair Everybody wants to wear a white cape and jewel studded belt

words—Dan Burr, Erik Christianson

Yellow Snow

writing on the spur of thought singing banshees pierce pillow
a thought on a wing writing on the sound of branches
redwood stumps
In the middle of housing plexes standing alone
quaking victims collaspes

writhen earthen mother
fire buring complex earth
breaking simple thoughts
shouting in telephone air

a puppies big brown eyes
and love of all mankind
a movement of planes piercing through the clouds
rumbling man bird
leaving hummingbirds peace

words & music—Erik Christianson

International World

the children of the world
should have the right to travel anywhere in the world they want to go

Chorus
two rights don't make it wrong life is short
can you see it?

It should be a basic human right
and we know they're gonna use it so that bombs can never drop anywhere

Chorus

so we win and Saddam wins but most important
is the children of the world
have a chance to live and learn in every country, every land

Fretblanket... "Fueled by a high octane brew of nonchalant naivete and absolute confidence" -NME

Will Copley - Vocals/Guitar
Clive Powell - Guitar
Dave Allsopp - Bass
Matt Carey - Drums

With a raw emotional thrust and adventurous melodic sensibility, this UK foursome propelled by drilling guitars has quickly become one of England's most talked about new bands, and the group's promise is fulfilled on its debut album, Junkfuel.

The album, produced by studio ace Tim Palmer, transcends transient trendiness in favor of a timelessly potent approach that drives tunes like "Twisted" (NME Single of the Week), "Song in B," "Now We're 30," and "Curtainsville," which achieve an effortless balance of solid aggression and personal introspection.

A four song EP, featuring the first track "Twisted," along with three B-sides, was serviced to College and alternative retail in late March.

FIVE YEAR PLAN

VIOLENCE
At the break of dawn
At the break of dawn
Left two girls screaming
Its bitter praises
For connections to glory
At the break of dawn

POLICE arrive
At the break of dawn
All these cowboy fascists
In dark glasses
At the break of dawn
And those who don't know
Love to talk
Those who know nail their Mouth shut
And call every act of innocence
A drug related death
Don't look at it too long
At the break of dawn

Fingerprints of emptiness
Composite sketch of the light
Where were you on the night
When you lost your faith

SLEEP won't come
At the break of dawn
All these siren screams
And chalkline scenes
At the break of dawn
And the crimes committed in
The streets
The homicidal fear replete
With images of blinding speed
And the bullet leaves no mark
On the break of dawn

break of dawn
blah blah blah hide and seek michele's song big picture

white millionaires sour grapes rallying cry ironic

Cedella Marley Booker

AWAKE ZION

"Awake Zion" is dedicated by Cedella Marley Booker to Bob Marley, who was its inspiration. "Mother Booker" as she is called by the Marley clan is the mother of Bob Marley and the grandmother of Ziggy Marley. An accomplished and popular artist in her own right, she began cutting gospel-reggae tracks for this recording in 1977 at the urging of Bob. "Cedella has a strong rafter-shaking reggae gospel voice . . . she achieves the first cohesive and swaying fusion of traditional gospel sound with reggae beat & sensibility. In many ways this is the final Wailers album."-Stephen Davis from his liner notes. Originally released on TUFF GONG Records, Jamaica in 1984 (minus *) as "Redemption Songs".

Just a personal note from me...

In my living room sits "this ol' piano," the one I wrote "Diamond In The Dust" on, "You're Gonna Be The Last Love" and "I Guess You Must Have Touched Me Just Right." On my walls hang pictures of my Mother and Daddy, my wife and little girl and twenty or thirty albums of other artists who have recorded my songs...many of them you know.

In Jackson, Mississippi I wrote the first forty songs of my life in hopes that someone could hear me sing...because I was born a singer, but became a songwriter so I could be a singer again.

Thanks to the CBS Family, I now have the chance to sing for you and write for the both of us.

The title cut from this album was written on Barry White's piano in Los Angeles when I really needed to say something to myself. In ten minutes I had said it...I leave it with you now.

"This ol' piano has made some people cry
It made a good love die
I guess that I know why
And this ol' singer
Has seen so many tears
And lived so many years
Just reaching for the sky."

LYRICS ENCLOSED

HE'LL TURN YOUR SCARS INTO STARS

JESUS IS A LOVE SONG

Repeat and fade

SMILE GOD LOVES YOU

Repeat chorus

Come on everybody, let us join together
Let us pray for our country, U.S.A.
Come on everybody, pray for our brothers and sisters
Pray for the nation
Let's say a prayer
Pray for peace

Fade

PRAY FOR THE U.S.A.

Drugs have become a way of life to man Sickness and disease spread all over the land To those that can't clearly see This is our hope and a dream
That what America needs is more love and peace
She can be free if she goes back down to her knees

Repeat chorus

We can continue to be the land of the free, home of the brave

Come on everybody, let us join together
Let us pray for our country, U.S.A.
Pray for the nation
Let's say a prayer
Pray for peace

TIME OUT

Time out to stop and look around you, take some Time out so many things to see Time out, don't hurry, don't be in a hurry, go take some Time out, time out, time out, time out, time out

All day, all night you're tryin' to make a livin' It's an oversight, there's something you're forgetting Your son has things he wants to show you, you've never home
Your friends don't even know you, and you never phone This life won't last forever, you need to take some time while you can

Needy, family
Look at all that God has made for you
He gave His all, His greatest gift
So that we can live

THE GREATEST GLORY

In the beginning of creation Through God in His splendor
The world has rendered
The best was yet to come God's greatest Written just for me
Jesus is God's greatest glory
From His birth in a manger
To His death on Calvary
Jesus Christ has a saga true Bringing hope to every man God's greatest glory
The world's life story
Written just for me
Jesus is God's greatest glory, glory, glory, glory

THERE IS A BALM IN GILEAD

I know One who cares
Found in Him peace of mind
I know One who is there
Found a friend so loving and kind

I know a man who cares
Found in Him peace of mind
I know a man who is there
Found a friend so loving and kind

There is a balm in Gilead
There is a balm in Gilead
There is a balm in Gilead
There is a balm in Gilead

Medicine used in the Bible days
To heal the sick and take the pain away
To heal the sick and take the pain away

There is a balm in Gilead
There is a balm, there is a balm
There is a balm, there is a balm
There is a balm in Gilead
There is a balm in Gilead
There is a balm in Gilead
There is a balm in Gilead

He healed the sick and He raised the dead
Five thousand hungry souls He fed
Five thousand hungry souls He fed

There is a balm, there is a balm
There is a balm, there is a balm

If there's a need in your life today
Just look to Jesus, He'll brighten your day
Just look to Jesus, He'll brighten your day
If there's a love you need today Jesus will brighten your day
If there's joy you need today Jesus will send it your way

Jesus is a balm in Gilead Removed the fame, the third day, and rose from the grave
He took the keys of death, hell, and the grave Laid the foundation, opened up the way

I'VE GOT AN ANGEL

I've got an angel with me in my sleep
I've got an angel looking after me
Going to and fro and watching on
I've got an angel, I've got an angel
I've got an angel watching over me

I've got an angel with me in my sleep
I've got an angel looking after me
Going to and fro and watching on
I've got an angel, I've got an angel
I've got an angel watching over me

Got an angel watchin' over me
Keeping me from all hurt, harm, and danger
Got an angel watchin' over me

Got an angel watching over me
Keeping me from all hurt, harm and danger
Got an angel watching over me
Got me an angel Angels watching over me
I've got me a made

I AM BLESSED

Blessed, blessed, blessed
Blessed, blessed, blessed
Yes, yes, yes
I say yes, yes my Lord

Oh to walk forever walk with Jesus For Him to do only what only pleases He blesses my going out and my coming in Everything I touch, my life is in Your hands

I'll go where He leads me, I will follow Where Jesus leads me, I'll go, I'll go Where He leads me, I will follow
Where Jesus leads me, I'll go

He promised me never to leave me
He promised me never to leave me
He said He'd never leave me nor forsake me
He said He'd never leave me nor forsake me
He promised I never to leave me

BILLY PILGRIM

Billy Pilgrim is Andrew Hyra and Kristian Bush.

"Billy Pilgrim is a youthful searcher," explains vocalist/guitarist Andrew Hyra. "He has so much pain in his life that he escapes into other eras. For us, music represents the escape, a catharsis that we're able to write out and sing out, and hopefully people go through it with us."

Hailing from the club circuit of Atlanta, Georgia, Hyra and fellow vocalist/guitarist Kristian Bush create intensely personal songs infused with strong melodies and gorgeous, intertwining two-part harmonies. On their self-titled debut Atlantic album, Billy Pilgrim showcases a fierce dedication to craft, as well as an uncanny capacity to write simple yet profound odes to the vagaries of modern life and relationships.

Produced by Don McCollister and mixed as well as produced in part by Hugh Padgham (The Police/Sting, Melissa Etheridge, XTC). Hyra & Bush are joined by noted session drummer Kenny Aronoff (John Mellencamp), bassist Guy Pratt (Pink Floyd, Academy) and guest vocalist Emily Sailers (Indigo Girls).

The country music industry had just gone through a period of great transition and was beginning to explore its power potential when Mercury Records entered the field in 1948. Country's base of operations had only recently shifted from two urban sophisticated cities to Nashville, Tennessee. While Nashville was home to the Grand Ole Opry, the show was an upstart in the hillbilly music business. It was Chicago's National Barn Dance that commanded the prestige and the huge listening audience in the mid '40s, and Chicago had a wide range of publishing houses and production facilities. Hollywood, California had not only the facilities but the flash associated with the film industry, and for some years it appeared that those two cities would control the business. Maybe there was just a little too much flash, maybe the two sprawling metropolitan areas were just a little too uptown for the down home music America wanted to hear, for by 1948 WSM's Grand Ole Opry was the top show in the nation and Nashville was the town attracting the labels, the producers, the singers, the songs.

Those were the days when people didn't live or die by the charts. Although radio took the music out to the public, it was single sales and jukebox play that determined what was or what was not a hit song. And people across the country were plunking post-War nickels into thousands of jukeboxes to hear everything from swing to cowboy songs, pop-flavored country to boogie. Mercury's early roster reflected that diversity of musical tastes, as well as the fact that the label had been interested in western style music for some time. Among the first acts the label signed were Rex Allen and Ken Curtis, with "Rooty Toot Galoot" released on Curtis in 1948. Curtis later became best known for his role of Festus in the television series Gunsmoke, but his first career had been music. He was with the Shep Fields Band in 1942, then briefly with Tommy Dorsey as a replacement for Frank Sinatra, prior to becoming a member of the Sons of the Pioneers. Mercury released "Afraid" by singing cowboy Rex Allen in 1949, the same year he was signed by Republic Pictures to make his debut film, The Arizona Cowboy. That same year Allen's television show, Frontier Doctor, was ranked 7th in the nation.

Also in 1949, the label released "Hadacol Boogie" by Bill Nettles and his Dixie Blue Boys. Nettles had gained fame throughout the South from his regular appearances on KWKH in Shreveport, and picked up the nickname, "Hadacol Boogie Man" from this single.

Few recordings of the time ever matched the sales and jukebox play garnered by Patti Page's "Tennessee Waltz," released in 1951. Page, though known as a pop artist, had a country flair to her vocals and an inclination to record country flavored material. She had an interesting way of developing material, for unlike most popular singers of the time, Page used no pianist-arranger. Instead, she worked out her songs alone, with a pitch pipe. And while her judgment on delivery was precise, in at least one case, her choice of singles was not. Both the singer and her bandleader, Jack Rael, picked the flip side of "Tennessee Waltz" as the hit.

Tiny Hill was the leader of what he called a "cornball band," which played a mixture of swing and dixieland, when he signed with Mercury and released "Hot Rod Race" in 1951. He was a big (350 lbs), colorful character, who had been working the road as a drummer in the mid '30s, and was a regular on the All-Time Hit Parade by the mid-'40s.

In 1952 Mercury launched the careers of two men who were destined for legend status: Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs. Scruggs, probably the most innovative of any banjoist in music history, had joined forces with Flatt in 1948. Both musicians had been members of Bill Monroe's Blue Grass Boys before leaving to form the Foggy Mountain Boys, signing a record deal with Mercury almost immediately and releasing several successful singles, including "Old Salty Dog Blues."

In 1953 The Carlisles had a big hit with "No Help Wanted," penned by Bill Carlisle. The next year the group was asked to become a member of the Grand Ole Opry, and they remained popular cast members for many years. Nineteen fifty-three was the year Rusty Draper had his first big charted hit on Mercury, "Gambler's Guitar." The song went to No. 6 in a short five weeks, and became a big, continuing jukebox success.

Kentucky native Jimmie Skinner, known earlier for his tribute song to Hank Williams, "Singing Teacher In Heaven," recorded three charted songs for Mercury before coming out with the big hit, "Dark Hollow" in 1959. Later that year "White Lightnin'" was a single for Mercury's George Jones, and the song became Jones' first No. 1 single. Jones had released two singles on the small Texas label, Starday, but it was not until the Mercury signing and the overwhelming response to "White Lightnin'" that Jones reached star status. With the signing of George Jones, Mercury began looking toward the new decade of the '60s. It would be a time of new vistas, an era in which Mercury would establish some of the biggest names in country music. It would be the time when Mercury Records would earn the title, "...the label of legends." Just as the past ten years had been a time of immense growth and experimentation, the next ten would be prophetic.

THE CANDY SKINS

The Candy Skins play lush, tuneful pop, drawing on influences they happily wear on their sleeves. Though their reference points (The Byrds, Buffalo Springfield) lie in the '60's, they display enough of the rhythmic sensibility common to the new breed of indie alchemists to place them firmly in the here and now. Close your eyes and be swamped by songs "Without Love" and "All Over You." The Candy Skins are songwriting brothers Nick Cope (vocals, acoustic guitar), Mark Cope (rhythm guitar) and Nick Burton (lead guitar). Mark Francis (bass) and John Halliday (drums) add the back beat. Producer Pat Collier (House of Love, Wonderstuff) found the Candy Skins songwriting to be fresh, melodic and lush. The Candy Skins debut album on DGC Records is powerful. highly accessible and will most definitely pick up major radio airplay that leaves a lasting impression. The Candy Skins debut album will be a mainstream hit record as well as emerge as a major alternative release in 1991.

Out Of The Valley (Chris Stuart)
Out of the valley comes a dark train,
Blowin' smoke from yesterday,
And if you listen to its song,
You can hear the captain call.

My maiden name was Mary Todd,
I married well, though not so young,
With Mr. Lincoln I rode the train,
From Springfield to Washington.

Through years of war each day I prayed,
For the boys in blue and grey,
Then little Willie took sick and died,
And I heard the captain cry.

Through curtains black and walls of white
I hear the voices in the night,
From fields of stone where lie the dead,
While the living call me mad.

Out of the valley comes a dark train,
Blowin' smoke from yesterday,
And if you listen to its song,

Everybody's Wrong (Chris Stuart)
I overhear strangers talking in this cafe,
The cold remarks aren't always what they ma
But nothing I hear can explain,
How after all is said, nothing's changed.

I listen for someone to say what's in a broker
But the words I hear in cheap advice slip awa
Time heals everything, so they say,
I just smile, fill their cup, and walk away.

Everybody talks about it,
Like it was so long ago.
Everybody wonders what went on,
Why can't I let you go.
Everybody seems to think they know what's

Before the dust has even settled on their 3.5 million selling breakthrough album Pornograffitti, Extreme is back with III Sides To Every Story, and it's a jaw-dropper. Clocking in at 77 minutes, the record is divided into three distinctly different sections: the aggressive Yours, the introspective Mine, and The Truth, a 22 minute opus featuring a 70-piece symphony orchestra.

Produced by Extreme's Nuno Bettencourt, III Sides To Every Story is Extreme's most ambitious and confident record to date. Like their heroes, Queen, Extreme is a band not content to be pigeonholed and III Sides To Every Story exposes the range only hinted at on their earlier records. They seque between funk rockers, ballads, and intricate orchestral works with remarkable ease.

RETRIBUTION DAY

If I were a gambling man
This risk I take Might surely damn
My future

I might lie awake I might toss and turn Feel the heat
Crash and burn
Torture

But it's OK
There's always
Retribution Day

This road I'm on it seems to lack A point of reference
On any map
It's nowhere

Ten sacks of gold for the devil's spell
It might be heaven
It might be hell
Remember

But it's OK
There's always
Retribution Day

If I had wings like an air-o-plane
I would fly
I would proclaim
Across the sky

- Jesse is the first artist on the new label Underworld Records. Underworld is owned by successful producers, The Hughes Brothers whose credits include the hit film "Menace To Society."
- Jesse co-wrote 5 songs on the album, which he describes as an "R&B album with a pop edge that expresses my background in gospel. It's an album made with love, about love."
- Jesse was born in Chicago and is the son of a preacher. In 1987, he began traveling with his father, singing each night before a new congregation. His first major show was opening for the Winans in 1987 at the Chicago State Theater. This lead to more shows with the Winans, BeBe and CeCe and the legendary Clark Sisters.
- In 1991 he performed for 2 years in the off-Broadway show "Only The Strong," co-starring Vanessa Bell-Armstrong, The Rude Boys and Denis Edwards (Temptations).
- "When U Cry, I Cry," the first single, will ship to retail 1/19.
- The album "Never Let You Go" will ship to retail 3/9, in store 3/21.

Europe's #1 World musician of 1992 (out shining Baaba Maal, Cheb Khaled, Youssou N'Dour, Papa Wemba, Zap Mama, Angelique Kidjo and Ali Farka Toure), Egypt's ALI HASSAN KUBAN is once again enjoying European chart success with his new album, Nubian Magic and is now ready to take on the American market.

Labeled the "Godfather of Nubian roots music," this wiry 65-year-old bandleader is often thought of as an Egyptian James Brown for his spirited, western-styled, funk-ifaction of traditional kaf dance rhythms. Appearing annually at over 250 weddings, Kuban is THE man to move to. For three decades he has proudly stood alone at the top of the heap. A wedding just isn't a wedding in Cairo unless Kuban and his posse make the scene.

Fusing funk rhythms to those of a more traditional nature (kaf and ollin aragiid), his band reflects mixed influences: sax, electric bass and keyboards meet the rural fellahi drumming of darabukka, dohollah (an Egyptian drum), tar and bongos.

His U.S. debut performance will be this June at the 10th Anniversary of New York's Central Park Summerstage with Branford Marsalis' jazz/hip hop band. Look for Ali Hassan Kuban to return to the States to do a full length tour soon.

David Gray is a 24-year-old British-born, Welsh-raised singer-songwriter who often performs with just his acoustic guitar, but bridles at the term "folksinger." Indeed, as the British weekly Melody Maker says, Gray "has more in common with PJ Harvey and American Music Club's anguish than any modern-day (Dylan wannabe)." A Century Ends features the best of both worlds: Gray performing solo and with subtle band accompaniment, and although shades of Elvis Costello and Aztec Camera pass through his work and words, the album most often recalls Van Morrison fronting the Waterboys (yes, it's that good). Yet what's often impressive about Gray is the fact that his debut album shows such maturity and development for such a young, untested artist; his debut single, "Birds Without Wings" (featured on A Century Ends) moved Melody Maker to say, "As the weeks go by and his confidence builds, you get the feeling Gray is capable of taking on anybody...Call him the Welsh Mark Eitzel, and listen hard."

Stanley Jordan Bolero

After a four-year recording hiatus, guitar virtuoso STANLEY JORDAN is set to debut on Arista Records with his new album titled Bolero. Bolero is a collection of previously recorded tunes that Jordan says, "represents all the different aspects of my personality. It goes in so many directions, the main point is that these different things fit together and they're not as different as you might think."

The setpiece of the album is the glorious 20-minute, format-bending reinterpretation of Ravel's classic "Bolero," in which the guitarist weaves the well-known theme through jazz, rock and hip-hop arrangements. The album also includes renditions of such familiar fare as the '70s ballad staple "Always and Forever," the Philly soul classic "Betcha By Golly Wow," Jimi Hendrix's "Drifting" and Herbie Hancock's groundbreaking jazz/pop fusion hit, "Chameleon."

STANLEY JORDAN has been astounding critics and jazz aficionados alike since 1983, when he first recorded his pioneering playing technique, featuring two-handed fret fingering and simultaneous melody lines using one guitar. Jordan's wide-ranging musical repertoire - which encompasses blues, rock, jazz and classical - has also earned him the reputation of a wunderkind.

"I was brought up to be serious about my music," Jordan concludes.

Direct from the Ogunquit Home for the Bewildered, RFD Records proudly present The Real Things! Many have asked...(actually only Mother here at the Home has queried) as to the Real Things origination. Trusting in America's capacity of Freedom of Speech and Censorship, we bare our early beginnings with the pride and passion depicted by Wesley Lipshitz Gunn, our founder, filmmaker, and filanthropist in his new book,"How the Real Things Got Together".

In 1968, Organist Ray telephoned Drummer Dave and that same night they played a private club engagement. They paid the management enough money so they were asked to return again and again. But, like old soldiers, all good things fade away.

"We need to find another gig! Where's Mr. Gunn?" came the question.

"O, Gunn quit," was the reply.

"Moody fellow wasn't he!"

By then things were looking up. Grange halls, junkstore openings, bars, country clubs, Job Corps centers, museums and the Odd Fellows hall (where we felt right at home), all the while toting organ and drums hither and yon, up and down, through rain, hernias and the dark of night.

C'mon, play the record like we're doing right now. Look, here comes Mother through the screen door. She didn't even bother to open it! She never does.
See her dance, see her shimmy like her sister Kate!

The song is over.
"What do ya think of the music?" we ask.

Stuck with a lonely heart
In a solitary place
weren't very smart
Nothing that you can do
It's a circle that never ends
Like a river that has it's bends
Stuck in the grasp of sin
Like the tar that's on my hands
From this sorry mess I'm in Pages that won't erase,
Hurts that cannot go away
Tears stream on my face
Looking for that brighter day
Chorus
Jesus had power on high
to turn my death into life
He made my lame legs dance,
He made me cease from strife
Didn't He make me clean, Didn't He make me
glad all over to be alive
Be alive to love you. Be alive
Won't you learn to lean on me?
Be alive
Stuck, but there's hope for you,
Having love become your aim,
It takes a courage rare,
Maybe you can't face the wind
Then when you fall alone
You will probably fall again
Chorus

You spend your best days fighting to
Keeping in touch with good friends,
And all this time you wonder,
Bucking under the pressure that
this world's laying down on you
hard to smile
Chorus
Can you put it? Can you put it?
Can you put it in your heart?
Can you put it?
Can you put it in your heart?
To love what God has made?
To love what God has made?
What God has made
What God has made?
Got to love what God has made!
It seems like a bad dream,
but the dreamer never wakes
Your body starts to shake
change the way you talk,
The way you look and
That life is really nothing but a fake
Chorus
It's a cat's game You can't win
Every day's the same
Ends as it begins
Gotta break out
Gotta change the beat
Find a joy you can't defeat

You are what you do
And there is something
That hasn't occurred to you
The seed that you sow
will stick your lifetime through Standing on the edge,
These replays will always be there
Chorus
This is the stuff that
what might have been
account of your night
fling's gonna bury you
what is right
If someone's headed for the shadows
We got to take them aside and say

Hosanna Hosanna
Praise to the Lord on high
Hosanna Joy of my laughter
Joy of the tears I cry
My Master My Master for an eternity
I lift my hands up I lift my heart up
I lift my life up Hosanna!
Praise Him! With my heart
I will praise Him!
Serve Him all the days of my life!

What have you done my son
in the hour of the night?
Did you think that
it would be forgotten?
A sweet fruit has now become rotten
Did you think that once
You would never be thirsty again?
You knew about the best
but now the worst
Has come to make you captive within
Chorus
What have you done my son?
Tell me now, where can you run?
But you'll turn your hand when you look it in the fire
Chorus

Chorus
Wake up to a different dream
Wake up, He is coming
Wake up for the Lord is near Wake up, He is coming
Wake up Forgive a brother
Wake up And love each other
Chorus
Wake up And show some kindness
Wake up And pray for peace

POWER MOVE
Deep in your heart
you want to own her
Deep in your heart
A robot just for you
Hurts to think that setting her free
Is the best thing you could do
Deep in your heart, you got a hunger
The sad part though
is that you will call it love
You will call it love
Chorus
Is it nothing more than a power move?
Is it nothing more than what passion
has to prove?
You need God to move
Deep in your heart In your heart
Deep in your heart
you may really want to love her
So for a start
Like do what God tells you to
She will notice too
There's a different kind of love
From what you do, deep in your heart

Sitting by the phone
Watching one more rerun
And I notice that my socks don't match
I tried to call you
I guess I'll see you in the morning
When the sunrise burns away
Those lingering longings of mine
I'm fine But I've known all the time
Chorus
I'd be free If I had never met you
If I had tried to live all by myself
Free from so much
From the memory of your touch
I'd be free But now look at me
I'd be free
With a Master so much kinder
So when you're far away, there can be no brighter day
Walking down the hall,
someone looks like you
The teacher's talking
but the words just pass by,
You are messing up my mind,
I might as well be on the moon
It won't be different in the morning
When the sunrise burns away
Those lingering longings of mine
I'm fine But I've known all the time
Chorus

All alone in my room
Before the test I'll take one last look,
And then I'll close my eyes
What a day, what a blast we had
Even history was not too bad
Met a girl who made my heart glad
that was a neat surprise
Chorus
If God was not around I do, but if I would be much different
I doubt if I would get too shaken up
I doubt if somebody would wake me up
to the fact that God was not around
the day comes to an end
Where to go when I lose these halls
Look for new space
for brand new walls
Different than where I've been
Chorus
That God had skipped town
I'd be forced to spend my days
Thinking how and why life
evolved this way
Wondering how things
could be so beautiful
If God was not around
Why should I go on living
If God is not around?
Chorus

STAY PURE
Rap
Stay pure, American Teen
Yes, that's just exactly what I mean
So American Teen Stay pure
seems to be an endless maze
can't see clearly through the haze
Don't make your choice
Make it now
decide your fate
A marriage is the right time
Take a stand now, before your life
becomes bad memories
Grab a hand now, help a friend survive
some stormy seas
No one said that it's easy
just acting your age
But the rest of your book
will be different
Rap
You cannot go back in time
All the charm that could melt
you away will desert you
No matter what he says,
no matter what she says

Father and Son: Much is said about Vermont farmers being "sen sible people of few words." What isn't often said is that "few words" sometimes means that we can't think of what the hell to say—especially to each other.

Fall Foliage: It happens every year, and every Vermonter knows it's the dictionary definition of "mixed blessing." It brings color, tourists, and money, and the reminder that "quaint" ain't all it's cracked up to be

The Government Program: Under the "Whole Herd Buyout" pro gram, the federal government paid certain dairy farmers to either slaughter or export their cows, in an attempt to reduce the "milk surplus." Many Vermont farms took part, and for some it was the end of generations of family farming

The Givin' War: Here in Vermont, we don't do our feudin' with shotguns. We blast away at each other with neighborliness, good deeds, freshly baked pies and raspberry jam. But make no mis take; it's all still a life or death struggle. Just ask my brother, Alan—he survived one

Love Poem: Romancin' in farm country can sometimes be a lean proposition, as anyone who's ever been single out here can tell you. But when it works out, the winters don't feels so cold, and the back roads don't seem quite so dusty

The Interstate: Somebody once asked me if this was a true story Well, it's true that Interstate 91 did snake its way up through Vermont, laying its way over the top of whatever was in the way. And I did once know a farmer named Leigh

Turds: I like performing this and seeing how long it takes people to look me in the eye. Young people seem to like it a lot, and I like to think that's because they have a well-developed sense of irreverence

Springtime: There's a kind of quiet passion we Vermonters have for our home and our land, but we get a little shy and clumsy sometimes about expressing it. Well, clumsy or not, here's my best shot

Beggars' Banquet Records drew it's first breath in London in 1977. It all began with The Lurkers' Shadow, a single made in the true do-it-yourself spirit of punk. During the 80's, the label grew to feature such ground breaking artists as Bauhaus, The Cult, Gary Numan and the Go-Betweens. The roster has continued to expand to include The Charlantans U.K., Buffalo Tom and Peter Murphy, maintaining the creativity and adventurousness of one of the last of the true independents.

Bullish Rage

Everybody wants to be Elvis
Everybody wants to take prescription drugs
Everybody wants Priscilla's dress
Everybody wants to give away Cadillacs
Everybody wants to be fat in Las Vegas
and banana sandwiches
Everybody wants to sing Blue Hawaii
Everybody wants mutton chop sideburns

Chorus
Everybody on the old street block
was dancing to the jailhouse rock
throw me a hip
twist me a tune
in the room

Everybody wants to be Elvis
Everybody wants to take prescription drugs

begone yellow snow
for pink you will become
said the stump

a little man sits
over and over again
my injustice will die

Hummingbird

humming bird humming
a black angel spits
of a manhole cover
bounding on asphalt lawns
spilling itself over

Chorus
Blow back
Blow back humming bird
in mind, in time, in rhyme

Everybody wants to take prescription drugs
Everybody wants to be fat in Las Vegas
and banana sandwiches
Everybody says don't be cruel
Everybody wants to drive pink Cadillacs
Everybody wants velvet artwork
Everybody needs jet black hair

Chorus

Everybody wants to be Elvis
Everybody wants to take prescription drugs
Everybody wants Priscilla's dress
Everybody wants to give away Cadillacs
Everybody says don't be cruel
Everybody wants to drive pink Cadillacs
Everybody needs jet black hair
and jewel studded belt

Yellow Snow

writing on the spur of thought
a thought on a wing
writing on the sound of branches
redwood stumps
In the middle of housing plexes
standing alone

a movement of planes
rumbling man bird

should have the right to travel
they want to go

Chorus
two rights don't make it wrong
life is short
can you see it?

drop anywhere

Chorus

so we win and Saddam wins
but most important
in every country, every land

Chorus

With a raw emotional thrust and adventurous melodic sensibility, this UK foursome propelled by drilling guitars has quickly become one of England's most talked about new bands, and the group's promise is fulfilled on its debut album, Junkfuel.

The album, produced by studio ace Tim Palmer, transcends transient trendiness in favor of a timelessly potent approach that drives tunes like "Twisted" (NME Single of the Week), "Song in B," "Now We're 30," and "Curtainsville," which achieve an effortless balance of solid aggression and personal introspection.

A four song EP, featuring the first track "Twisted," along with three B-sides, was serviced to College and alternative retail in late March.

At the break of dawn
At the break of dawn
Left two girls screaming
Its bitter praises
For connections to glory
At the break of dawn

At the break of dawn
All these cowboy fascists
In dark glasses
At the break of dawn
And those who don't know
Love to talk
Those who know nail their Mouth shut
And call every act of innocence
A drug related death
At the break of dawn

Fingerprints of emptiness
Composite sketch of the light
Where were you on the night
When you lost your faith

SLEEP won't come
At the break of dawn
All these siren screams
And chalkline scenes
At the break of dawn
And the crimes committed in
The streets
The homicidal fear replete
With images of blinding speed

Awake Zion

"Awake Zion" is dedicated by Cedella Marley Booker to Bob Marley, who was its inspiration. "Mother Booker" as she is called by the Marley clan is the mother of Bob Marley and the grandmother of Ziggy Marley. An accomplished and popular artist in her own right, she began cutting gospel-reggae tracks for this recording in 1977 at the urging of Bob. "Cedella has a strong rafter-shaking reggae gospel voice. . . she achieves the first cohesive and swaying fusion of traditional gospel sound with reggae beat & sensibility. In many ways this is the final Wailers album."-Stephen Davis from his liner notes. Originally released on TUFF GONG Records, Jamaica in 1984 (minus *) as "Redemption Songs".

Just a personal note from me...

In my living room sits "this ol' piano," the one I wrote "Diamond In The Dust" on, "You're Gonna Be The Last Love" and "I Guess You Must Have Touched Me Just Right." On my walls hang pictures of my Mother and Daddy, my wife and little girl and twenty or thirty albums of other artists who have recorded my songs...many of them you know.

In Jackson, Mississippi I wrote the first forty songs of my life in hopes that someone could hear me sing...because I was born a singer, but became a songwriter so I could be a singer again.

Thanks to the CBS Family, I now have the chance to sing for you and write for the both of us.

The title cut from this album was written on Barry White's piano in Los Angeles when I really needed to say something to myself. In ten minutes I had said it...I leave it with you now.

"This ol' piano has made some people cry
It made a good love die
I guess that I know why
And this ol' singer
Has seen so many tears

Billy Pilgrim is Andrew Hyra and Kristian Bush.

"Billy Pilgrim is a youthful searcher," explains vocalist/guitarist Andrew Hyra. "He has so much pain in his life that he escapes into other eras. For us, music represents the escape, a catharsis that we're able to write out and sing out, and hopefully people go through it with us."

Hailing from the club circuit of Atlanta, Georgia, Hyra and fellow vocalist/guitarist Kristian Bush create intensely personal songs infused with strong melodies and gorgeous, intertwining two-part harmonies. On their self-titled debut Atlantic album, Billy Pilgrim showcases a fierce dedication to craft, as well as an uncanny capacity to write simple yet profound odes to the vagaries of modern life and relationships.

Produced by Don McCollister and mixed as well as produced in part by Hugh Padgham (The Police/Sting, Melissa Etheridge, XTC). Hyra & Bush are joined by noted session drummer Kenny Aronoff (John Mellencamp), bassist Guy Pratt (Pink Floyd, Academy) and guest vocalist Emily Sailers (Indigo Girls).

The country music industry had just gone through a period of great transition and was beginning to explore its power potential when Mercury Records entered the field in 1948. Country's base of operations had only recently shifted from two urban sophisticated cities to Nashville, Tennessee. While Nashville was home to the Grand Ole Opry, the show was an upstart in the hillbilly music business. It was Chicago's National Barn Dance that commanded the prestige and the huge listening audience in the mid '40s, and Chicago had a wide range of publishing houses and production facilities. Hollywood, California had not only the facilities but the flash associated with the film industry, and for some years it appeared that those two cities would control the business. Maybe there was just a little too much flash, maybe the two sprawling metropolitan areas were just a little too uptown for the down home music America wanted to hear. For by 1948 WSM's Grand Ole Opry was the top show in the nation and Nashville was the town attracting the labels, the producers, the singers, the songs.

Those were the days when people didn't live or die by the charts. Although radio took the music out to the public, it was single sales and jukebox play that determined what was or what was not a hit song. And people across the country were plunking post-War nickels into thousands of jukeboxes to hear everything from swing to cowboy songs, pop-flavored country to boogie. Mercury's early roster reflected that diversity of musical tastes, as well as the fact that the label had been interested in western style music for some time. Among the first acts the label signed were Rex Allen and Ken Curtis, with "Rooty Toot Galoot" released on Curtis in 1948. Curtis later became best known for his role of Festus in the television series Gunsmoke, but his first career had been music. He was with the Shep Fields Band in 1942, then briefly with Tommy Dorsey as a replacement for Frank Sinatra, prior to becoming a member of the Sons of the Pioneers. Mercury released "Afraid" by singing cowboy Rex Allen in 1949, the same year he was signed by Republic Pictures to make his debut film, The Arizona Cowboy. That same year Allen's television show, Frontier Doctor, was ranked 7th in the nation.

Also in 1949, the label released "Hadacol Boogie" by Bill Nettles and his Dixie Blue Boys. Nettles had gained fame throughout the South from his regular appearances on KWKH in Shreveport, and picked up the nickname, "Hadacol Boogie Man" from this single.

Few recordings of the time ever matched the sales and jukebox play garnered by Patti Page's "Tennessee Waltz," released in 1951. Page, though known as a pop artist, had a country flair to her vocals and an inclination to record country flavored material. She had an interesting way of developing material, for unlike most popular singers of the time, Page used no pianist-arranger. Instead, she worked out her songs alone, with a pitch pipe. And while her judgment on delivery was precise, in at least one case, her choice of singles was not. Both the singer and her bandleader, Jack Rael, picked the flip side of "Tennessee Waltz" as the hit.

Tiny Hill was the leader of what he called a "cornball band," which played a mixture of swing and dixieland, when he signed with Mercury and released "Hot Rod Race" in 1951. He was a big (350 lbs), colorful character, who had been working the road as a drummer in the mid '30s, and was a regular on the All-Time Hit Parade by the mid-'40s.

In 1952 Mercury launched the careers of two men who were destined for legend status: Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs. Scruggs, probably the most innovative of any banjoist in music history, had joined forces with Flatt in 1948. Both musicians had been members of Bill Monroe's Blue Grass Boys before leaving to form the Foggy Mountain Boys, signing a record deal with Mercury almost immediately and releasing several successful singles, including "Old Salty Dog Blues."

In 1953 The Carlisles had a big hit with "No Help Wanted," penned by Bill Carlisle. The next year the group was asked to become a member of the Grand Ole Opry, and they remained popular cast members for many years. Nineteen fifty-three was the year Rusty Draper had his first big chartbuster on Mercury, "Gambler's Guitar." The song went to No. 6 in a short five weeks, and became a big, continuing jukebox success.

Kentucky native Jimmie Skinner, known earlier for his tribute song to Hank Williams, "Singing Teacher In Heaven," recorded three charted songs for Mercury before coming out with the big hit, "Dark Hollow" in 1959. Later that year "White Lightnin'" was a single for Mercury's George Jones, and the song became Jones' first No. 1 single. Jones had released two singles on the small Texas label, Starday, but it was not until the Mercury signing and the overwhelming response to "White Lightnin'" that Jones reached star status. With the signing of George Jones, Mercury began looking toward the new decade of the '60s. It would be a time of new vistas, an era in which Mercury would establish some of the biggest names in country music. It would be the time when Mercury Records would earn the title, "...the label of legends." Just as the past ten years had been a time of immense growth and experimentation, the next ten would be prophetic.

THE CANDY SKINS

The Candy Skins play lush, tuneful pop, drawing on influences they happily wear on their sleeves. Though their reference points (The Byrds, Buffalo Springfield) lie in the '60's, they display enough of the rhythmic sensibility common to the new breed of indie alchemists to place them firmly in the here and now. Close your eyes and be swamped by songs "Without Love" and "All Over You." The Candy Skins are songwriting brothers Nick Cope (vocals, acoustic guitar), Mark Cope (rhythm guitar) and Nick Burton (lead guitar). Mark Francis (bass) and John Halliday (drums) add the back beat. Producer Pat Collier (House of Love, Wonderstuff) found the Candy Skins songwriting to be fresh, melodic and lush. The Candy Skins debut album on DGC Records is powerful, highly accessible and will most definitely pick up major radio airplay that leaves a lasting impression. The Candy Skins debut album will be a mainstream hit record as well as emerge as a major alternative release in 1991.

Out Of The Valley (Chris Stuart)
Out of the valley comes a dark train,
Blowin' smoke from yesterday,
And if you listen to its song,
You can hear the captain call.

My maiden name was Mary Todd,
I married well, though not so young,
With Mr. Lincoln I rode the train,
From Springfield to Washington.

Through years of war each day I prayed,
For the boys in blue and grey,
Then little Willie took sick and died,
And I heard the captain cry.

Through curtains black and walls of white
I hear the voices in the night,
From fields of stone where lie the dead,
While the living call me mad.

Out of the valley comes a dark train,
Blowin' smoke from yesterday,
And if you listen to its song,
You can hear the captain call.

Everybody's Wrong (Chris Stuart)
I overhear strangers talking in this cafe,
The cold remarks aren't always what they m
But nothing I hear can explain,
How after all is said, nothing's changed.

I listen for someone to say what's in a broker
But the words I hear in cheap advice slip aw
Time heals everything, so they say,
I just smile, fill their cup, and walk away.

Everybody talks about it,
Like it was so long ago.
Everybody wonders what went on,
Why can't I let you go.

Before the dust has even settled on their 3.5 million selling breakthrough album Pornograffitti, Extreme is back with III Sides To Every Story, and it's a jaw-dropper. Clocking in at 77 minutes, the record is divided into three distinctly different sections: the aggressive Yours, the introspective Mine, and The Truth, a 22 minute opus featuring a 70-piece symphony orchestra.

Produced by Extreme's Nuno Bettencourt, III Sides To Every Story is Extreme's most ambitious and confident record to date. Like their heroes, Queen, Extreme is a band not content to be pigeonholed and III Sides To Every Story exposes the range only hinted at on their earlier records. They seque between funk rockers, ballads, and intricate orchestral works with remarkable ease.

If I were a gambling man
This risk I take Might surely damn
My future

I might lie awake I might toss and turn Feel the heat
Crash and burn
Torture

But it's OK
There's always
Retribution Day

This road I'm on it seems to lack
A point of reference
It's nowhere

Ten sacks of gold for the devil's spell
It might be heaven

But it's OK
There's always
Retribution Day

If I had wings like an air-o-plane
I would fly
I would proclaim
Across the sky

- Jesse is the first artist on the new label Underworld Records. Underworld is owned by successful producers, The Hughes Brothers whose credits include the hit film "Menace To Society."
- Jesse co-wrote 5 songs on the album, which he describes as an "R&B album with a pop edge that expresses my background in gospel. It's an album made with love, about love."
- Jesse was born in Chicago and is the son of a preacher. In 1987, he began traveling with his father, singing each night before a new congregation. His first major show was opening for the Winans in 1987 at the Chicago State Theater. This lead to more shows with the Winans, BeBe and CeCe and the legendary Clark Sisters.
- In 1991 he performed for 2 years in the off-Broadway show "Only The Strong," co-starring Vanessa Bell-Armstrong, The Rude Boys and Denis Edwards (Temptations).
- "When U Cry, I Cry," the first single, will ship to retail 1/19.
- The album "Never Let You Go" will ship to retail 3/9, in store 3/21.

Europe's #1 World musician of 1992 (out shining Baaba Maal, Cheb Khaled, Youssou N'Dour, Papa Wemba, Zap Mama, Angelique Kidjo and Ali Farka Toure), Egypt's ALI HASSAN KUBAN is once again enjoying European chart success with his new album, Nubian Magic and is now ready to take on the American market.

Labeled the "Godfather of Nubian roots music," this wiry 65-year-old bandleader is often thought of as an Egyptian James Brown for his spirited, western-styled, funk-ifaction of traditional kaf dance rhythms. Appearing annually at over 250 weddings, Kuban is THE man to move to. For three decades he has proudly stood alone at the top of the heap. A wedding just isn't a wedding in Cairo unless Kuban and his posse make the scene.

Fusing funk rhythms to those of a more traditional nature (kaf and ollin aragiid), his band reflects mixed influences: sax, electric bass and keyboards meet the rural fellahi drumming of darabukka, dohollah (an Egyptian drum), tar and bongos.

His U.S. debut performance will be this June at the 10th Anniversary of New York's Central Park Summerstage with Branford Marsalis' jazz/hip hop band. Look for Ali Hassan Kuban to return to the States to do a full length tour soon.

David Gray is a 24-year-old British-born, Welsh-raised singer-songwriter who often performs with just his acoustic guitar, but bridles at the term "folksinger." Indeed, as the British weekly Melody Maker says, Gray "has more in common with PJ Harvey and American Music Club's anguish than any modern-day (Dylan wannabe)." A Century Ends features the best of both worlds: Gray performing solo and with subtle band accompaniment, and although shades of Elvis Costello and Aztec Camera pass through his work and words, the album most often recalls Van Morrison fronting the Waterboys (yes, it's that good). Yet what's often impressive about Gray is the fact that his debut album shows such maturity and development for such a young, untested artist; his debut single, "Birds Without Wings" (featured on A Century Ends) moved Melody Maker to say, "As the weeks go by and his confidence builds, you get the feeling Gray is capable of taking on anybody...Call him the Welsh Mark Eitzel, and listen hard."

Stanley Jordan Bolero

After a four-year recording hiatus, guitar virtuoso STANLEY JORDAN is set to debut on Arista Records with his new album titled Bolero. Bolero is a collection of previously recorded tunes that Jordan says, "represents all the different aspects of my personality. It goes in so many directions, the main point is that these different things fit together and they're not as different as you might think."

The setpiece of the album is the glorious 20-minute, format-bending reinterpretation of Ravel's classic "Bolero," in which the guitarist weaves the well-known theme through jazz, rock and hip-hop arrangements. The album also includes renditions of such familiar fare as the '70s ballad staple "Always and Forever," the Philly soul classic "Betcha By Golly Wow," Jimi Hendrix's "Drifting" and Herbie Hancock's groundbreaking jazz/pop fusion hit, "Chameleon."

STANLEY JORDAN has been astounding critics and jazz aficionados alike since 1983, when he first recorded his pioneering playing technique, featuring two-handed fret fingering and simultaneous melody lines using one guitar. Jordan's wide-ranging musical repertoire - which encompasses blues, rock, jazz and classical - has also earned him the reputation of a wunderkind.

"I was brought up to be serious about my music," Jordan concludes.
